“Where after all, do universal human rights begin? In small places, close to home—so close and so small that they cannot be seen on any map of the world. Yet they are the world of the individual person: the neighborhood he lives in; the school or college he attends; the factory, farm or office where he works. Such are the places where every man, woman and child seeks equal justice, equal opportunity, and equal dignity, without discrimination. Unless these rights have meaning there, they have little meaning anywhere.” Eleanor Roosevelt

A Historical Perspective of Ohio's Laws Against Discrimination

Ohio has one of the longest histories of civil rights enforcement in the country. The Ohio Public Accommodations Law of 1884 was enacted to prohibit discrimination on the basis of race in all public facilities. This law applied to movie theaters, stores and restaurants. More than 70 years later in 1959 Ohio became the 16th state to ratify legislation prohibiting discrimination in employment on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin and ancestry. Ohio's Fair Employment Practices Law was championed under the leadership of Ohio Governor C.W. O'Neil and was signed into law on July 29, 1959 by Governor Michael V. DiSalle as the Ohio Civil Rights Act of 1959.

This new law established Ohio's Fair Employment Practices Commission - charged with enforcing Ohio's Laws Against Discrimination. In 1961, the Ohio General Assembly renamed the agency the Ohio Civil Rights Commission (OCRC). While primarily concerned with discrimination in employment, the Ohio legislature granted discretionary authority to study, advise and issue statements regarding all civil rights related matters of the state.

Powers and Duties of the Ohio Civil Rights Commission

The general powers and duties of the Commission are to receive, investigate, render formal determinations and conciliate charges of unlawful discrimination in the areas of employment, housing, public accommodations, credit and disability in institutions of higher education. It is the Commission's responsibility to educate constituents and stakeholders about Ohio's Laws Against Discrimination. The Commission prepares a comprehensive educational program for the students of Ohio's public schools. These programs are designed to eliminate prejudice, its harmful effects and its incompatibility with American principles of equality and fair play.

Chronology of Historical Highlights:

On April 25, 1958, Governor C. William O'Neill appointed a statewide Governor's Advisory Commission on Civil Rights. Citizens from all parts of the state representing business, education, government, industry, labor, and social welfare were invited to meet at the Governor's Office in Columbus for the first meeting of the Commission. Charles Y. Lazarus of Columbus was appointed as Chairman, Reverend Hugh E. Dunn of Cleveland, John L. Feudner of Akron, and Anthony Haswell of Dayton were appointed as Vice Chairmen. Donald Beatty and Chester J. Gray of the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation were appointed as staff consultants. At this meeting, Governor O'Neill emphasized that it was his desire and purpose to "inaugurate and implement a constructive, long range program in Ohio to insure all citizens of the state their equitable and full enjoyment of the civil rights provided by the constitution." In furtherance of this purpose, he instructed the Commission to avoid involvement in anything that might be wrongly interpreted as a political issue. From "THE ROAD TO EQUALITY AND THE PASSAGE OF THE FIRST CIVIL RIGHTS LAW IN OHIO"

"The government of Ohio has a concern in the equal treatment of all persons in the state, and through its legislature and Governor the people have determined this to be the state's policy. An offense against the civil right of an individual Ohioan is an offense against the state."

Investigation & Enforcement

Anyone who lives or works in Ohio and believes they have been subjected to unlawful discrimination may file a charge with the Ohio Civil Rights Commission. Our offices are located in Akron, Cincinnati, employment and housing cases when the preliminary information indicates there may be a pattern or practice of discrimination within an entire system ("systemic discrimination").

Charges Filed by Regional Office

Cleveland, Columbus, Dayton and Toledo. Complaints must be filed within six months (or one year for housing complaints) of the alleged act of discrimination.

The complaint must be based on the belief the discriminatory act occurred because of the person's race, color, sex, disability, age, religion, national origin, ancestry, familial status, military status or retaliation for having participated in a protected activity.

The OCRC has the power to self-initiate an investigation in

The Ohio Civil Rights Commission has one year from the date on which the charge of discrimination was filed to complete the investigation.

Once the charge of discrimination is received the case is assigned to an investigator who sends letters and a copy of the charge affidavit via U.S.

Mail to the person filing the charge (Charging Party) and to the company/person against whom the charge was filed. (Respondent)

MEDIATION

The Ohio Civil Rights Commission offers a voluntary mediation program and employs trained mediators in each of its regional offices. Mediation requires both parties voluntarily agreeing to participate in the process. The purpose of the mediation is to resolve the issues in a manner that is mutually satisfactory to the parties. Mediation is not the forum to determine the merits of a case. If mediation is successful, the case is closed and no further action will be taken. If mediation is not successful or if one party declines participation, a full investigation will commence.

In 2012 mediators conducted 540 mediations. 86% resulted in a successful settlement with an average processing time of 41.6 days.

The OCRC'S mediation program began in 1997 and successfully resolves about 83% of their referrals within 42 days or less.
