Why do people use color to describe themselves? How did the colors black, white, olive and caramel come to define entire races of people? Skin color has been a major source of prejudice for many years. However, people forget one crucial fact about colors; they are made to be blended. Some of the most beautiful colors invented come out of bringing two or more colors together. That is my dream. I hope that one day the world will crush its racial barriers and achieve total social and racial equality. Barriers that people use to segregate one another are too many to count; color of skin, physical appearance, mental capabilities or sexual orientation are only a few. Through my artwork and an open mind, I hope to inspire those in my community and, eventually, other communities to accept the differences between its citizens and others around themselves. Everyone has something to contribute to the world and everyone has a color that goes deeper than the skin. Let us stop resisting what we were made to do and blend our talents into what could be the greatest masterpiece of all.
