

Martin Luther King Jr. Asks, “What Are You Doing For Others?”

Martin Luther King Jr. was a man who did many great things for mankind. Martin Luther King Jr. knew that it was he who had to make a change in life. It was Martin Luther King Jr. who fought for what he believed in and worked hard to make the people in this world finally understand equality. It was he who fought for the rights of black people. Dr. King knew that it would be tough, but in the end he finally won the rights of black people. If Martin Luther King Jr. did all this for his people, can't we do something too?

I believe that community services have a great impact on our community. Individuals are born with the need to interact with other. They have to live in communities to be able to survive. Therefore every individual has a capability to help the rest. There are different ways where individuals help each other. They can help the poor and homeless people to find shelter, clothes and food. They can help ensure that all kids get good education and stay in a safe environment. People with certain mental diseases also need special schools. Some community services are offered for the elder and the handicapped people. They provide special accessible utilities for them in order to make their lives easier. Health care should always be available for all individuals.

As students, I think we can help our community in different ways. We can keep our school clean and maintain a healthy environment. We can avoid smoking and drugs and advise others to avoid them too. We can help poor people by giving them food and clothes. We can visit and help the elder in the nursing homes. Visiting the sick people will put a smile on their faces and will help them recover sooner. I believe that I can help my community so much by working on myself in order to have a good education and serve my community in the future.

If all the people would do these great acts, we would become a much healthier community. We should always keep working hard everyday to help others and keep our community safe. Martin Luther King Jr. taught the lesson of equality, and now it's our turn to help the world in advancing to a stronger and safer level. So follow these great acts of helpfulness and we will become an amazing community.
