Everyone faces a challenge or setback sometime in their life. Some people have bigger ones, and some people have smaller ones, but no matter what, the part that matters most is how you react to it. In my drawing, the pink ribbon represents Cancer, and the purple shape represents a form of Dementia called Alzheimers. People with Cancer and Alzheimers don't just give up, they push to overcome. In my drawing, the galaxy represents that in space, you can't stop moving and that is what people have to do. The stars represent all of the people who have one of these two diseases that never give up and continue to overcome the challenges they are faced with.
