Though I have fallen,

I will stand up.
Micah 7:8

The Bible verse Micah 7:8 inspired me to make this pencil drawing to enter in this contest. It talks about how even though people shoot you down, you will stand back up. A lot of kids are getting bullied these days, but don't have the courage to get back up, so they just let the bully get to them. Martin Luther King, Jr. wanted all races to take hands and stand together. We need to carry on this legacy and help others stand who cannot do it themselves. I will continue to stand for both myself and others, and will never stop encouraging my community to do the same.
